COSTA RICA FEARS WAR — Newspaper locates Costa Rica and Nicaragua, whose year-long feuding has exploded in a charge that Nicaragua is planning an invasion of its neighbor to the south. The charge, denied by Nicaragua, was made by President Jose Figueres of Costa Rica, left, who demanded intervention by the 21-member Council of the Organization of American States. Figueres says that its neighbor to the north has recruited several hundred paid soldiers in preparation for an invasion of Costa Rica, which has no army.

Hammaraskjold Leaves China, Silent On Talks

Diplomats See Hope Of Success On Trip To Free Yank Airmen

HONG KONG (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, homebound from his mission to Peiping, crossed the border from Red China into British Hong Kong at 8 p. m. tonight.

Hammarskjold and his party are to stay overnight at the government house. They will board a Scandinavian Airways System plane for Tokyo at 8 a. m. tomorrow (7 p. m. EST, tonight).

Word preceded the party that the secretary general would make no statement here, but nevertheless at least 50 newsmen kept a vigil in the coldest weather Hong Kong has experienced in several years.

No Hint of Decision

Hammarskjold was enroute home from his secret Peiping talks with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai with still no hint of any decision on the jailed American airmen.

Despite the lack of any mention of the airmen in the final joint communiqué or in any previous talks, diplomats at the United Nations and officials of several nations found hopeful signs in yesterday's brief report.

In their talks, Hammarskjold and Chou said, they discussed "questions pertinent to the relaxation of world tension."

"We feel," they added, "that these talks have been useful and we hope to be able to continue the contact established in these meetings."

There was no immediate comment from either the U.S. State Department or the American delegation to the U.N. but British officials in London said Hammarskjold and Chou apparently left the way open for further negotiations for a deal resulting in release of the Americans might be possible.

Sees Release Near

The most cheerful attitude was taken by an Indian Foreign Ministry spokesman in New Delhi, who said the freeing of the U.S. airmen—downed during the Korean War—appeared to be only a question of time, "perhaps after some further clarification and talks."

Delegates and officials at U.N. headquarters in New York speculated that Hammarskjold must have achieved some success in the four-day talks or he would not have permitted the word "useful" to appear in the communiqué.

There also was some speculation that the secretary general might be returning with counterproposals from the Peiping regime.

The secretary general went to Peiping in response to a U.N. General Assembly resolution calling on him to seek the release of the U.S. airmen and the repatriation of hundreds of other U.N. personnel captured in Korea and still held by the Reds.

Hammarskjold met with Chou a total of 13 1/2 hours in the four days of talks. Their final meeting yesterday lasted 80 minutes.

Aliens Must Register At Salem Postoffice

All aliens are advised to register this month, L. D. Beardmore, postmaster, said today.

Officials of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service have made available forms for the registration in the post office.

Immigrants are required to fill out forms before returning them to a postal clerk.

Prosecution and deportation are applied under federal law to any aliens failing to register, Beardmore said.

Mahoning River Is Polluted, Dept. Of Health Study Shows

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Existence of water pollution in the Mahoning River Basin was confirmed today in a report made public by the Ohio Department of Health. The study was started in 1952 with additional tests in 1953 and 1954.

The survey was made by the water pollution control unit of the division of engineering, department of health, with cooperation of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board, the Ohio and Tennessee drainage basins office of the U.S. Public Health Service, and the Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center of the U.S. Public Health Service at Cincinnati.

Existence of pollution which "impaired reasonable and necessary water uses, endangered public health, and caused nuisance conditions" was found during the study. An area of 1,076 square miles with a population of nearly a half million was covered. Tributaries as well as the main stream of the Mahoning were checked.

Eleven municipalities with a population of 281,582 are listed as without any sewage treatment and needing sewage treatment plants.

Six of these, under the program of the new water pollution board, have completed plans for treatment plants. They include Campbell, Girard, Niles, Garrettsville, Lowell and McDonald.

Youngstown, Warren and Newton Falls have engineers working on final plans.

The other two, Poland and Struthers, are considering connection to the Youngstown sewerage system.

Among 59 industries in the area listed as having serious polluting wastes, 13 are reported to have currently satisfactory waste treatment; 24 are reported as having some waste treatment but not sufficient and therefore in need of replacement, enlargement or addition of other methods of control, and 22 are reported as having no waste treatment facilities at this time.

All of these have been brought

Sheppard Weeps At Funeral Rites

Osteopath Fearful For Father's Health

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sorrowed by a last look at his mother and anxious over his seriously ill father, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was under constant watch today in the county jail's fourth-floor observation cell.

But the 31-year-old osteopath has shown no sign of emotional crack-up, his jailer said.

Sheppard wept yesterday during the funeral service for his white-haired mother Mrs. Ethel Niles Sheppard, 64. He wept again when he stood with his two brothers beside the casket for a moment before it was closed.

Despondent At Sentence

Mrs. Sheppard shot herself to death with a revolver last Friday. The brothers say she was despondent after her son's sentence, three weeks ago today, to life imprisonment for the July 4 murder of his wife Marilyn.

Police said the mother's suicide note said only:

"I can't manage alone without father."

A crowd of about 2,000 gathered outside the yellow brick funeral home in suburban Lakewood when Sheppard arrived in a blue police car, handcuffed to Michael A. Uccello, chief jailer.

A rope barrier and police guard kept the uninvited at a distance as they snarled traffic on busy Detroit Avenue.

After he hurried inside, an overcoat slung over his shoulders, Sheppard had time for a brief talk with less than a score of relatives and friends at the private service before the Rev. Alfred C. Kreke of Bay Methodist Church began the sermon at 3 p. m.

Asks About Father

In that talk Sheppard asked about his father Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, who is in Bay View Hospital with an acute respiratory ailment.

Richard N. Sheppard, oldest of the three osteopath brothers, told Sam their father was "extremely weak" and "we're very concerned about him. . . . We hope he makes it."

Later Stephen Sheppard asked the jailer whether his brother could visit his father at the hospital. Uccello said that could not be permitted without an additional court order.

A light snow wet the tent sheltering the grave at Sunset Memorial Park, about 10 miles from the funeral home, as Dr. Sam stood beside his brothers and listened to the Rev. Mr. Kreke pray. Strains of "The Lost Chord" sounded from an organ in a nearby mausoleum.

A half hour after he had kissed his women relatives farewell and

Lausche Sees Ohio's Money Problems As Most Acute State Has Yet Faced

Claims State Doesn't Need More Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's money problem is more acute than at any time during his four previous terms, Gov. Frank J. Lausche declared today in a 12,000 "State of the State" message to the Legislature.

But, the five - term governor stated barely 25 hours after he took the oath of office:

"Ohio has not and should not have deficit operation; nor should it be subjected to the burden of carrying any new taxes."

Citing requests for spending which would top income for the next two years by 76 million dollars, and echoing pledges of leaders in the Republican-controlled 101st General Assembly of not new taxes, Lausche told a joint session of the Legislature:

"The budgetary requests and grants made by direct legislation will have to be cut to a level that will make possible their financing through the existing revenues."

Lausche did not plan to read every word of his ponderous, 40-page message to the law-makers. He wanted it all "on the record," but he estimated it would take more than an hour to read it aloud, word for word.

In his State-of-the-State address, Lausche avoided any direct recommendations as to how much money the Legislature should spend in any field.

Those recommendations will come later after he and the state's new budget director, John M. Wilcox, manage to slash budget requests to match the state's estimated income of 706 million dollars in the next two years.

Lausche's recommendations to the Legislature covered the whole range of state government. They included:

EDUCATION—"This General Assembly will be faced with the perennial question as to the amount of state aid that should be provided. . . . Normal population growth indicates a need during the next two years of a 25-million dollar increase over the 231 millions provided by the state during the last two years.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION—"Three million dollars was appropriated in 1953. These funds were handled with great care, but only a relatively small part of the need could be met. . . . I am deeply of the opinion that this General Assembly should create an Ohio school building authority empowered to issue bonds, build schools in impoverished areas, rent them to the local boards and out of the proceeds of such rentals to amortize the bonds. . . . The creation of an authority such as suggested will tie into the President's program."

STATE SCHOOL BOARD—"The people of Ohio, by constitutional amendment, have decided that the Department of Education shall be administered by a state board of education. The details of the setting up of this board are in the hands of this General Assembly. . . .

The members of this board must represent the people of Ohio, not separate groups or interests. . . .

MOVIE, BOOK CENSORSHIP—"A certain number of the members of the film and book industry. . . . have clearly demonstrated their unwillingness by self restraint to protect our society. . . . I urge the adoption of laws in conformity with the directions given by the Supreme Court of the United States that will enable our society, by proper controls and sanctions in the interest of morality, to control this grave menace."

AGRICULTURE—"The governor pointed to a seven-point program of achievement, but suggested no changes in the law."

STRIP MINES—"Although we presently have a land reclamation law, five years of experience under it have proved it to be inadequate. One of the principal weaknesses. . . . is its failure to solve the problem of the steep banks and canyon-like cuts which impound narrow puddles of toxic waters that drain into and pollute our streams. . . ."

"Most certainly, we of Ohio have a manifest obligation to future generations to institute a program which will adequately reclaim this strip-mined land."

NATURAL RESOURCES—"Ohio is now at the crossroads of progress in industrial and agricultural development. . . . I urge this General Assembly to strongly support and implement the development of . . . a statewide water supply and survey plan on an accelerated basis."

MENTAL HYGIENE, CORRECTION—"It is obvious the problem of our overcrowded mental, correctional and juvenile facilities is so vast that we cannot possibly catch up with it by building only out of (treasury) surplus. To do so will mean simply that the problem be submitted to the voters of Ohio for a decision. In order to get this vital program under way as soon as possible, I recommend that 25 million dollars be appropriated from the anticipated surplus of (40 million dollars for the two years ending June 30) and a 115-million dollar bond issue be submitted to the voters for approval at the November 1955 election."

WELFARE—"Having in mind the needs of older persons and those with health problems, I believe that the present maximum of $65 for the aged and blind is not enough for present conditions, and I recommend that the legislature give serious consideration to raising the maximum or removing it entirely. . . . It is essential that the aid for aged program offer assistance that can be used to prevent unnecessary commitments to state hospitals."

PERMANENTLY, TOTALLY DISABLED—"I feel it is my duty. . . . to call to your attention the fact that the state of Ohio is in imminent danger of losing federal grants amounting to three million dollars a year in aid for the permanently and totally disabled. The problem has its source in the failure of the officials of Harrison County to administer the federal aid program with Civil Service employees as required by federal law. . . . I therefore urge the adoption of legislation that will make possible the compliance of our state with the requirements of the federal law."

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION—"My views are in accord

Master Traffic Plan Is Urged Of Councilmen

Mayor and County Engineer Confer With Highway Dept.

The Salem Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously yesterday to submit to City Council a resolution recommending possible improvements to aid traffic flow in the city. The measure included a suggested master traffic plan and took into consideration the Pidgeon Road by-pass.

Proposed earlier by the Chamber's traffic committee, the measure was adopted at the C. of C.'s noon luncheon meeting at the Lape Hotel.

The resolution which will be submitted to Council suggested that Council representatives contact Dean Sever, state division engineer, to seek financial aid in the project that would complete the south cutoff joining Routes 14 and 62.

At Conference Today
In connection with the road improvement, Mayor Dean B. Cranmer and County Engineer Charles O. Snyder went to New Philadelphia today to confer with Mr. Sever.

Friday Night Hours Popular With Shoppers

Salem shoppers like the new Friday night shopping hours, the Chamber of Commerce was told at its first meeting of the new year yesterday by Robert McCulloch, Jr., committee chairman.

Salem stores stayed open Friday night until 9 for the first time last week, instead of Saturday, the customary late-hour day.

A survey of merchants showed that the Friday night hours are popular with shoppers. All but one merchant reported favorable trade on Friday night.

Elliott Hansell, chairman of the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, reported previously that the decision to stay open Friday nights, rather than Saturday, was made after months of study of customers' shopping habits and the trend in other cities.

This Friday night will be the second observance of the new schedule.

er. They will attempt to learn how much assistance the city and county can expect for the completion of the project.

Recently, the county improved the present Pidgeon Road between Route 45 and the Depot Road. They also prepared a new section of Pidgeon Road between Newgarden and Depot Roads for paving. Thus, the bypass is now cut through from Route 45 to the Newgarden Road.

A combined county-city undertaking proposes to push the road from Newgarden Road and connect it with Granite St. to Pine St. and then to W. State St. where Routes 14 and 62 meet.

At the same time, the Chamber recommended that the city have a master traffic plan prepared. They pointed out that in order to realize federal aid, such a plan is a prerequisite. According to the Chamber, 60 of Ohio's 138 cities are already in a position to participate in the government's one billion dollar road and street improvement program.

Quoting the state attorney general, the resolution pointed out that funds received by cities from motor vehicle license and gasoline tax could be used to employ an engineer to prepare the plan.

At a meeting last month to determine the feasibility of removing Route 14 from Salem, Sever said that he would recommend to State Highway Director S. O. Linzell that a traffic flow survey be made here.

Other Street Extensions Urged
Another aspect of the Chamber's resolution was the suggestion that E. Pershing St. be extended eastward to connect with N. Madison Extension South to provide another east-west thoroughfare for the city. It also recommended that W. 3rd St. be extended to Jennings Ave. and that

Mayor's Office Income In '54 Sets Record At $40,931

Receipts from the mayor's office during 1954 established a new record surpassing the previous high of 1953 by more than $9,000, Mayor Dean B. Cranmer's annual report reveals.

Last year, a total of $40,931.50 was received while in 1953 the sum amounted to $31,931.35.

Of the total last year the greatest sum, $24,681.40, was collected through state patrol fines. Half of that amount was kept by the city and the other half forwarded to the state. Costs on state cases amounted to $3,675.80.

Fines and forfeits in city cases amounted to $9,322.80, and costs totaled $1,097.10.

Other income during the year was derived from:

Building permits, $210; licenses of all kinds, $433; fines and forfeitures on state cases in which city police were the arresting officers, $1,413.40; humane officer's arrest, $10; charge for intoxicant tests, $58; and Ohio State Conservation Department arrests, $30.

On cases in which city police made the arrests under state laws, the fines and forfeitures were forwarded to the county. Fines collected through conservation department arrests were transmitted to that department.

The total figure includes $3,585.60 stolen from the mayor's safe Dec. 19. The stolen money represented a large portion of the $3,932 the office received during November.

FARM WORKERS — Above Newschart shows number of workers on U. S. farms from 1945 to the present. After reaching a high of 10.3 million workers in 1947 and 1948, there was a continual decline. Seeks To Allow Quail Hunting

Bill Introduced For 10-Day Annual Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The piercing cry of "bob-white" may again be heard by Ohio hunters' ears.

Oldtimers recall with gusto huge flocks of succulent quail baked to a turn, but that kind of talk makes Audubon Society members and some others slightly ill.

There hasn't been an Ohio-grown quail cooked legally in two generations—since 1913. For 40 years, until two years ago, the familiar "bob white" has been a songbird under Ohio law.

Two years ago, the Ohio Legislature put the quail back on the gamebird list. That was to permit money to propagate the bird.

But yesterday, Rep. Paul B. Siple (D-Laurens) introduced a bill establishing an annual open season of at least 10 days on quail.

The measure was the sentimental favorite, at least, of many legislators yesterday as the 101st General Assembly started its second week by dumping 40 more proposed laws into the hopper. The count now stands at 85 bills introduced.

Law-makers were prepared today to hear a 12,000-word "State of the State" message from Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche before a joint session of the Republican-controlled Legislature. Then they planned to offer another couple score of bills before heading into a legislative week-ending session Wednesday morning.

Yesterday was marked by special statements by leaders in the House and Senate to the effect they still favor the principle of taxing big trucks according to the weight they carry and the distance they travel.

The statements followed reports the axle-mile tax adopted by the last Legislature might be scuttled. Said House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan):

"I believe strongly in the retention of the use tax system for levying taxes on charges against the heavier vehicles. I do not believe that the Legislature ought to foreclose consideration of any amendments to our existing law that might allow us to accommodate it to acts of other states. I do not believe the use tax can be effectively enforced with any exemption for out-of-state travel by heavier trucks."

"In my opinion the axle-mile tax will not be repealed by this Legislature. If there is a method which can be adopted for mileage traveled in interstate trade which is acceptable to all states and which still reflects payment by the mile, I can see no reason why such a formula should not be adopted."

Said Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens): "I still am firmly convinced that the principle of taxing trucks by their weight and the distance traveled is correct. Of course, we will be glad to listen to proposals for other types of taxes which will accomplish the same purpose."

Prosecutor, Detective Arraigned For Bribery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prosecutor Frank H. Kearns of Franklin County and County Detective Fred W. Selby were arraigned on grand jury indictments today before Common Pleas Judge Ralph J. Bartlett.

Each pleaded innocent, Kearns to 22 charges which included embezzlement and soliciting a bribe, and Selby to 13 charges, including embezzlement and soliciting a bribe. They were released immediately under $25,000 bonds each.

The judge first read the list of charges to Kearns, and then to Selby. Both waived the reading of the indictments and pleaded innocent to each individual count.

Earlier, it was announced the Kearns' trial would be held Feb. 1. But Judge Bartlett vacated this date, and said he would set another date.

Congress Gets Ike's Federal Pay Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's program for pay raises for federal workers goes to Congress today, with congressional leaders apparently ready to risk a veto by rejecting a related request for higher postal rates.

Duchene will soon take the odd-shaped contraption of glass and metal tubes to the observatory at Saint-Michel-de-Provence in southern France, where skies are generally very clear.

He will attach to it a 47-inch telescope which, say the inventors, thus will become considerably more powerful than the 20-inch giant at Mt. Palomar, Calif.

Little serious star gazing is done these days by peering directly through a lens. Astronomers work mostly from photographs, which show nothing to the layman but little dots or streaks of light. This one, the inventors claim, will be able to take the same pictures in four minutes that now require six to eight hours of exposure—and take them better.

"It should give astronomers enough new observations to work on for 50 years," Lallemand said. In the new camera the feeble flecks of starlight—called photons—will first hit a thin glass plate covered with a layer of antimony and cesium, one of the rarer elements. This layer transforms the photons into electrons, which then pass through high-tension electrodes that step up their strength from 2 electron-volts to 40,000 or 50,000. The electrons are what hit a photographic plate less than an inch in diameter.

Objections to coupling pay raise legislation with increased postal rates came from Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) of the House Post Office Committee; Rep. Rees of Kansas, senior Republican on the committee; House Speaker Rayburn of Texas; and House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts.

Approval Seen For Tariff Cuts

Ike Asks Extension Of Reciprocal Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic and Republican congressional leaders joined today in forecasting early approval of President Eisenhower's program to help spur free world trade by lowering U.S. tariffs.

In a special message yesterday, Eisenhower renewed proposals he first made last year for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act with power to cut tariffs another 15 per cent.

He also called for measures to stimulate investment of U.S. capital abroad, largely through tax concessions; to simplify customs regulations; to furnish more technical "know-how" to underdeveloped countries; to encourage American travel to other lands; and to increase American participation in international trade fairs.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn), incoming chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and chief sponsor of a bill to implement the President's proposals, announced hearings would start next Monday. Indications were the trade bill might be the first major legislation passed by the new Democratic controlled Congress.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who will head the Senate Finance Committee, said his group would hold hearings as soon as the House acts. He said he generally favored the recommendations, although he was not ready to endorse all details. Another expression of support came from Sen. George (D-Ga.), senior Democrat on the Finance Committee.

But vigorous opposition was assured from the three senior Republicans on the ways and means group—Representatives Reed of New York, Jenkins of Ohio and Simpson of Pennsylvania—and from Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), senior GOP member of the Finance Committee.

Some opponents said privately they would be able to make the fight much closer than is generally expected, but they did not claim they could defeat the program.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) said he would be willing to go even farther than the President asks and vote a permanent reciprocal trade law.

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind), assistant House Republican leader, said he thought the program would be enacted "substantially as recommended" and that "a good majority" of Republicans would be for it.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said he was certain Congress would cooperate with the President on the program.

Korean Orphan Brought To U.S. By Navy Chief

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—A year or so ago little Lee Kyung Soo was an orphaned waif in the muddy streets of Inchon, Korea. Today he is known as Lee James Paladino and has become quite adjusted to life in the United States.

The youngster was adopted by Navy C.P.O. Vincent J. Paladino, a bachelor, and brought here to live with his parents a year ago last month.

Lee is now 6 and a first-grade pupil in Holy Name Catholic School. He has stopped calling Paladino "Abooji," the Korean word for father, and now calls him "Dad."

Like other American boys, his television tastes run to cowboys and Western programs, the Paladinos report. And the child is particularly happy now about a bicycle he got for Christmas.

The family says the past year has almost completely wiped out the boy's memories of tragic times in his native Korea.

The Navy chief, now assigned as an instructor at the naval reserve armory in New Rochelle, still has the problem of having Lee's adoption legally recognized in the United States, a step necessary for the child's American citizenship. He is trying to get the adoption papers from Korea. If they don't come soon, he said, he plans to ask for a 30-day leave to go to Korea and get them himself.

RECALLED.—German Charge D'Affaires Oskar Schlitter and his wife, Daisy, shown at the German embassy in London Sunday, returned to Bonn after being recalled by the West German government. The government apologized for Mrs. Schlitter, a former beauty queen and actress, who called Britain an "enemy country" at a Christmas party speech in the German diplomatic mission in London. The reference was a slip of the tongue, the government said.

Senator Urges China Blockade

Asks Move If Talks Fail To Free Airmen

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) proposed today that the United States ask its allies to join in a blockade of Red China if United Nations efforts fail to gain the release of American "spies."

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld yesterday ended a series of talks in Peiping with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai, but a joint communique, issued at U.N. headquarters in New York, gave no hint whether the 11 U.S. airmen would be freed. However, the communique described the secret talks as "useful" and this prompted speculation that Hammarskjöld may have met with some success.

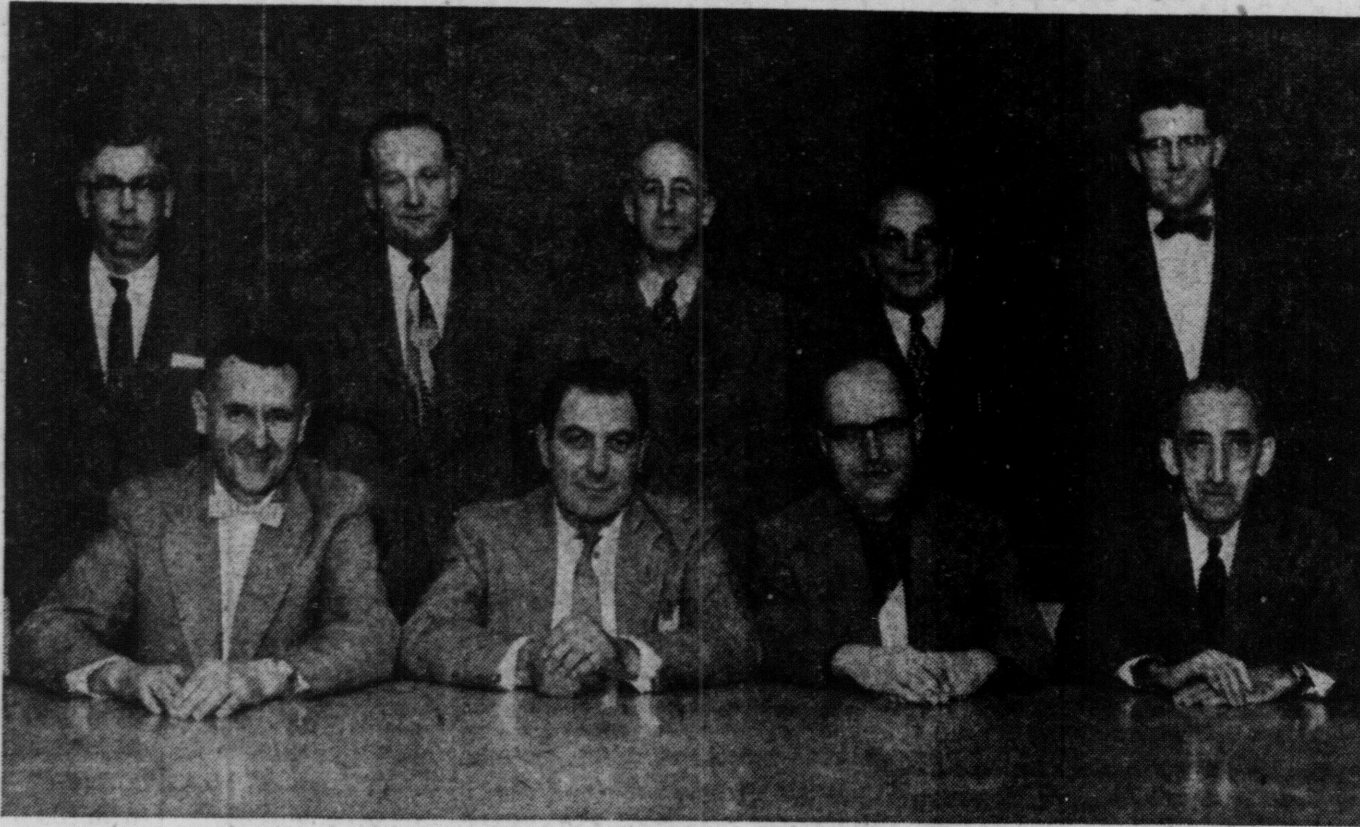

Smith, retiring chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Far Eastern subcommittee, said in an interview he would oppose any "trade" which the Communists could use for propaganda purposes.

"If our men are not released, we should ask our allies to join us in a blockade of the China coast," he said. "I believe to squeeze them economically would be the best sanction to apply. I know it would be dangerous, but we must take some calculated risks."

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, who has differed in the past with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on some aspects of foreign policy, has renewed his proposal that the United States clasp a blockade on China to obtain release of Americans held there, regardless of whether other friendly nations join in.

Smith said, however, he believes that to make such a blockade effective, this country would have to have the support of England.

Leetonia Kiwanis Club Plans Installation

The newly organized Leetonia-Kiwanis Club will install officers at a charter presentation program next Monday evening, Jan. 17, in St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Leetonia.

A turkey dinner will be served. The officers of the new club are shown above (l. to r.) first row: D. D. Rummel, Leetonia superintendent of schools, president; Carl Vignon, vice president; Leland Helt, treasurer, and Clark Marshall, secretary. Standing (l. to r.) Directors Edward Greenamyer, Ewing Holloway, Fred Flo-ding, Joseph Justice and Twing Hiseox.

A program of entertainment will follow the dinner and visiting Kiwanis dignitaries will include Past District Governor Willis Edmund of Akron, who will make the charter presentation. Loren general is expected back in New York Saturday.

The State Department said it would have no comment until Hammarskjöld files his report.

"I don't think the Communists want to precipitate any fighting now," he declared.

Eisenhower and Dulles have indicated opposition to any blockade at this time, primarily on grounds that it could be regarded as an act of war.

Smith, who usually supports Dulles' policies, is known to have urged the secretary of state to be ready with a plan of action if Hammarskjöld returns from Peiping empty handed. The U.N. secretary general is expected back in New York Saturday.

The State Department said it would have no comment until Hammarskjöld files his report.

Grand Jury To Hear Youth's Slaying Case

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP)—The Crawford County Grand Jury meets today—one week early—and is expected to hear the case of Frederick Spears, 17-year-old Gallion youth charged with slaying his younger sister.

The Spears' case is one of many to come before the grand jury, and county officials were unable to say if it would be heard today, Wednesday or Thursday.

In a five-minute hearing yesterday, Judge Constance B. Keller of the juvenile court remanded the case to the common pleas court. She said Spears' action constituted a felony and that her court had no authority.

She set bond at $50,000, and said she did not expect it to be raised. The bond was subject to review by Common Pleas Judge John Carroll.

Prosecutor John D. Sears yesterday presented a statement signed by the youth in which Sheriff Elwood Jacobs said Frederick admitted strangling his 16-year-old sister, Patricia, after a pillow fight in their home.

The youth has been given a mental examination in Columbus, but Judge Keller said results of the test would not be made public now.

Industrialist To Seek Columbus' Ship Remains

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A Binghamton industrialist is preparing an expedition to Haiti to seek the remains of the flagship of the tiny fleet with which Christopher Columbus reached America in 1492.

Edwin A. Link has invented a "magnetic wand" with which he plans to search for bits of metal from the Santa Maria under coral growth in Lemonade Reef off the north coast of Haiti. The Santa Maria is believed to have run up there in December, 1492.

Link, chairman of the board of Link Aviation Inc., expects to put out from Miami with his wife in their converted shrimp boat next April. Both are accomplished divers.

45 Votes Behind Him

For the next 18 months, the qualifying rounds
for the 1956 presidential nominating contests will be fought day by day in headlines and behind them. For obvious reasons, President Eisenhower is the best bet for the Republican nomination a year from next June. But among Democrats there is no obvious favorite — not since last November.

Abiel E. Stevenson, the nearest thing to a favorite up to that time, acquired a rival who must be taken seriously when Averell Harriman squeaked through to victory in his race for governor of New York. The same massive electoral vote that made Thomas E. Dewey the perennial top contender in Republican conventions when he was the New York governor now belongs to Gov. Harriman. New York's electoral total is 45. Illinois has 27. California and Pennsylvania, runners-up to New York, have 32.

This is why the governor ship of New York is the springboard of all springboards to the presidency of the United States. It is why the governor of New York is usually a contender for the presidential nomination of his party.

And it explains why Harriman will do many things what he did the other day as soon as he heard President Eisenhower was going to recommend an increase in the national minimum wage from 75 cent to 90 cents an hour. That wasn't enough, he said; he was in favor of at least $1.25.

The governor of New York must keep himself and those 45 electoral votes in plain view so no one will be in any danger of forgetting why he will be a hard man to beat for the Democratic nomination 18 months from now. Gov.
Harriman is on the move.

Logic In Turnpikes

Release by the Ohio's controlling board of $705,500 to complete a north-south Ohio turnpike survey begun a year ago when $135,000
was released assures a second major toll-road project.

It was logical that the first project should be an extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.
Ohio, which always has been a geographic bottleneck in east-west transportation because of its location became a traffic bottleneck when it was caught with no way of handling the vehicles pouring off the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

It is equally logical that the second project
should speed the movement of highway traffic between Cleveland and Cincinnati, the state's largest cities. But beyond that, tollroad logic is not so apparent.

The Turnpike Commission, which is charged with the duty of administering Ohio's toll roads
and seeing that they are properly built, departs
at that point from straight-line design and gets into the problem of diagonal highways.

Although there was ready acceptance by the state controlling board of the desirability of surveying a diagonal route running from Columbus to Toledo, connecting with the north-south turnpike at the lower end and the east-west turnpike at the upper end, the board found no merit in the Turnpike Commission's idea of surveying a diagonal route running from Wooster to Petersburg, to provide a cutoff for turnpike traffic moving in and out of heavily-populated north central Ohio.

The apparent logic of this route could be confirmed or denied by a survey. Nothing is provided by the state controlling board's arbitrary refusal to consider it, except that the board has put itself above the Turnpike Commission.

Worthy Of Their Hire

There will be no serious objection to raising the pay of members of Congress this year, if the members of Congress can come to quick agreement on a figure between the top and bottom of the proposals.

The present rate is $15,000, including a tax-exempt $2,500 for expenses. The increase should be upward to $20,000. Those who are talking about making it upward of $25,000 had better consider the importance of keeping the increase from looking like a grab.

Few congressional constituents are disposed to make an issue of following the rule that congressmen are worthy of their hire. In order to make legislative service in Washington attractive to the kind of citizens capable of working with the problems of modern lawmaking, the people of the United States must compete with private enterprise to a limited extent.

The sovereign people cannot pay legislators what many of them could make in the legal profession, for example, or in business. The people cannot put a price on the honor and prerequisites of membership in Congress. But they can put a salary tag on congressional service that would enable a qualified man in moderate circumstances to go to Washington without wondering if he could make ends meet.

The present rate of $15,000 is not enough to maintain a residence at home and a residence in Washington, and to meet the other expenses of congressional service.

McCarthy Vindicated

Peress Report Reveals Army Contempt For Senate

"Better late than never" may still be a wise maxim for the guidance of those in government who try to cover up their mistakes and then find themselves confronted after all with the necessity of making a clean breast of their errors—but in public controversies it is better to come clean at the outset.

Thus the office of secretary of the Army in making public a comprehensive report of exactly how the case of Maj. Peress, alleged Communist who got an "honorable discharge," was handled clears up many a mystery and at the same time unwittingly vindicates Sen.
McCarthy.

For the Wisconsin senator had insisted that the information sought by the Senate subcommittee on governmental operations
was not "classified" and did not involve "security" but concerned the administrative failures of an executive agency which are a proper subject for inquiry by Congress.

IT TURNS OUT now—as the new report reveals—that the derogatory information about Maj. Peress was known inside the Pentagon at least a year before the McCarthy committee took up the issue. It develops also that Gen. Zwicker knew all the facts and evidently the Wisconsin senator knew that he knew them.

The refusal of Gen. Zwicker to testify frankly before the Senate subcommittee appears now to have been either because he was ordered to cover up for his superiors or because he was gagged by his superiors who knew that if he told all the facts it would corroborate
McCarthy's line of inquiry.

If Joe McCarthy had not yielded to his exasperation that day to make a denunciatory comment about Gen. Zwicker—or, if he had later withdrawn it but insisted that there was a cover-up for which the general was not to blame—the Wisconsin senator would have been on sounder ground. The facts he sought so desperately were bound to justify his side—if he could have been patient.

Likewise if the Department of the Army had told all the facts last January that it now tells the public there would have been no "Mc-Carthy-Army" row as the headlines called it nor any sensational hearings on the television which cost the Eisenhower administration
so many votes in various election contests last autumn.

McCarthy's idea all along was that it was better for a Republican senator to expose weaknesses in a Republican administration than a Democrat to let the Democrats have a field

day—which is what may happen
now.

The Democrats are still resentful that they lost votes in the 1952
election because of the charge that they had been "soft" on Communists in government and now the Democrats will point to the handling of the Peress case as an example of how careless, if not
"soft," the Eisenhower administration has been in handling a Communist issue.

WHAT IS MOST difficult to understand is why somebody in the "red tape" list of 61 officers in the Army—now disclosed to have had some part in handling the Peress case didn't raise Cain
when he saw a notation on the application of Dr. Peress declaring that he refused to answer questions about membership in subversive organizations.

The new Army report shows that on April 28, 1953, Lt. Col. Ronald
F. Thomas, chief of the Counter Intelligence Division, reported that there was adverse data on Peress and a letter about it was sent to the surgeon general of the Army and to the chief of the intelligence staff.

This letter said that there was "sufficient evidence of disloyal and subversive tendencies to warrant removal of Peress from the service." It took several months for that letter to be acted upon and the delay is, of course, indefensible.

Even when Gen. Zwicker on Oct.
21, 1953, wrote to the commander of the First Army that the retention of Dr. Peress was "clearly not consistent with the interest of national security" nothing was done for several months.

McCarthy got into the fray in January 1954 and demanded that
Maj. Peress be court-martialed and his "honorable discharge" held up.

IT NOW IS revealed that a decision to ignore the Senate committee's request and give an "honorable discharge" to Maj. Peress was made by John G. Adams, counselor of the Army, and Lt.
Gen. Walter L. Weible, deputy chief of staff for operations and administration.

This was an action "contemptuous" of the Senate.

It is perhaps the most flagrant case of disregard of a legislative committee by an executive official that has been recorded in a long time.

One wonders what the Senate will do now to "vindicate its honor"—for it is plain that one of its committees was given the "run-around."

Always A Day Of Reckoning

By RAYMOND MOLEY

I feel like the Scotchman who confessed to his confederates at a poker game that he had noticed
for some hours that one of them had ceased to breathe. He said:
"I'd be the last man to bring bad news to a pleasant party."

It is unpleasant to suggest in the midst of the glowing anticipations of a boom year ahead that our concern should extend beyond this year and next to the years in which another generation must take up what we have done or left undone.

Unless all past experience is irrelevant and all past maxims of economic prudence false, we are preparing, for some not too remote future, a dreadful awakening. To a large degree America is living on the cuff.

We were reminded of this when after the Federal Reserve Board imposed a modest increase in margin requirements, there was weeping and wailing and selling on Wall Street.

WHETHER THE amount of selling which followed this tightening of credit was evidence of an excessive amount of pure speculation
by the public, I am not able to say. In fact, it would be difficult to tell with any degree of accuracy whether there is an excessive speculative interest by people who cannot afford it. But this slight nudge by the Federal Reserve Board, together with the sharp reaction that followed, might well bring to our attention the many sectors in the economy of the country where debt has been rising at a very rapid rate.

This is true in the realm of government finance, and it is true in many non-governmental fields.

Not long ago, I was among a group which was considering the problem of economy in government. All went well while a number of items of governmental expenditure were considered. Then the President's highway program came up.

AN AUTOMOBILE executive who was present interposed a suggestion that this was an exception. The new highways were needed, he contended. They would really be a great economy in the long run, he said, since cars waiting or immoderately slowed up in crowded streets and highways were wasting gas and manpower.

Later an objection was made to the suggestion that the proposed new "painless" method of building schools be condemned. The objec-tor was a member of the school board in a notable suburb of a great city.

The school program is an example. First, the state would set up a building authority which would issue bonds and sell them to the public. It would then build schools. Then the local boards would rent the schools, and with the rent the state authority would pay off the bonds and the interest thereon. But the public would not buy the bonds without a guarantee,
and that is where the federal government enters the picture. It would guarantee the bonds.

BUT THIS generation, however improvident, it may be about paying its way and however callous
it may be about leaving debts to be paid or defaulted by its children, is certainly intent, so far as schools are concerned, on giving those children the best it cannot afford.

The new "painless" schools will no doubt be equipped with all the luxurious trimmings that well-paid architects can devise.

The next generation may have a staggering debt to carry, but it can look back at a childhood in the lap of luxury provided by borrowed money.

Frenchmen Living In The Past

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Mendes-France was correct
when, at the beginning of the recent debate, he said that a small majority was not enough. He wanted a large majority; he did not get it.

Furthermore, the nature of the debate was a distressing; it was as anti-American as it was
anti-Russian, if not more so.
If I am a doing

Frenchmen speak of the West Germans as revanchists—those who seek vengeance—what a re-these Frenchmen? They live in the shadows of 1870, 1914, and 1939.
Bismarck, Wilhelm II and Hitler still ride their memories. They fear Germany more than they do Russia, because Germany is closer at hand. Since Napoleon, France has not been at war with Russia, except some small participation in the Crimean War. The present living generation of France seems always to have been at war with Germany.

THAT MENDES-FRANCE could deliver any majority at all is a remarkable political achievement.
Pitted against him were the greatest figures of France Actuelle, and also the vocal masses of the people who dislike the United States has helped France so much. We have repaid our debt to Lafayette
a millionfold—but that was too much and people are always suspicious of the overly-generous.
There is something of the parvenu
in that.

At any rate, Mendes-France
comes out of it all as the one man in France who, since the end of the war, could get an agreement
through without capsizing the government. Now his problem is to outlast the intrigues of his enemies.

France suffers from a multi-party government which arises out of a system of proportional representation that proliferates until almost, to exaggerate a point, each deputy is a political party unto himself.

It is a worse arrangement than the uniparty systems of the totalitarian countries because it makes for irresponsibility in government.

The uniparty systems make for tyranny. Governmentally France is approaching anarchy.

WHEN A FRENCH premier wants to carry a measure, he has to go among the various parties
peddling his wares like a hawk,
making deals, arranging for places
in his cabinet, often doing things which are distressing. The dignity of office as the dignity of person
goes by the board under such circumstances.

Mendes-France took the abuse
which came to him over the Christmas week with fortitude and a courage wholly unexpected. It ought to make an impression on his countrymen as it has upon the people of this country.

The real immediate danger to France lies neither in Germany nor in Russia but in complete and total isolation. Those elements in France which sought to use a critical, if not crucial, international situation, to damage an individual,
to pay off private and political scores, were risking too much.

If the United States and Great Britain deserted France, the result would soon be France. And that was proved beyond doubt in both World War I and World War II.
France cannot defend herself because she cannot create an industrial base to defend herself.

Furthermore, the geography of Europe is such that France can easily be invaded and has often been, not only by Germany, but by the English in the good old days when the kings and queens of England owned pieces of France.

TODAY, WITH modern weapons, France's first line of defense is the city of Washington on the west and the Elbe River on the east and all the patriotic speeches of M. Herriot will not change that. If those defenses are unavailable to France, an armed West Germany,
or a united Germany under Russian guidance, could take France and hold her—unless the United States came to the rescue.

That is what the situation is and nothing can be done about it because the interplay of geography and new weapons makes it that way. From a practical standpoint, the United States acts as an underwriter of France.

This may be humiliating to a Frenchman who recalls the glories of Louis XIV and the victories of Napoleon, but the Wrights' "Kitty Hawk" set a pace which is now too swift for those who live in the memory of the bygone achievements of foot soldiers. Besides, France no longer can produce the foot soldiers in sufficient numbers.

The difference between Mendes-France and his outraged colleagues is that he faces reality and they face only the past.

The Funny Side

By TRUMAN TWILL

For a welcome change from the bone-crunching, scream-punctuated violence on the living room gawk box last night, I sat in a corner and read at random in an anthology of humorous writing. It was wonderful entertainment.

One of these days, the newest wrinkle in the entertainment business will be books. There will be a generation that will discover for the first time that reading can be more fun than watching shadows.
Meanwhile, some of us keep rediscovering the same thing.

Before taking to the anthology,
I had read a newspaper story about Ray Eliot, head coach of the University of Illinois. His team had a disastrous season, but Eliot had told his fellow coaches at a luncheon in New York that they shouldn't forget their responsibilities
as teachers.

Coaches should teach their boys
how to lose, too.
He said his football players had turned the laugh on themselves in a good many grim situations. In the Ohio State game, he recalled,
his former all-American halfback J. C. Caroline came over to the bench during a time out and asked for a new football. "What's the matter with the one on the field?" demanded Eliot. "O h i o State won't let us play with it,"
was Caroline's rejoinder.

So to get the taste of misery
and grimness out of my mouth,
I spent last night sampling goodies
in an anthology of American humor. At one time, while E. B.
White was keeping me in convulsions of snickers with a takeoff
on Ernest Hemingway, the lady of the house turned to a nearby sibling and said, "Look up the number of the hatch, son. I think poppa is ready."

To the contrary, mamma.
Things have been mighty dismal these last few years. People kept looking under the bed and nailing down the windows before they went to sleep. You never knew from one day to the next what the crazy Russians, the fickle French
the horrendous Chinese, the whimsical Indians, the bull-headed South Africans, the hot-headed Egyptians, or the hysterical Guatemalans were going to do.

Juvenile delinquency kept rising.
The traffic toll kept rising. Tempers kept rising. Confidence, employment and prices, meanwhile,
kept falling.

And if a fellow turned to his gawk box for diversion, he was more than likely to hear some dame hollering for "Heathcliffe!"
or some politician hollering,
"Mad dog!"

Some nights it was hard to go to sleep. But after a session with selected bits of humorous writing, I went to bed and slept without even wadding up the pillow.

I have no idea what's in store
tonight. The plumbing may conk out, the roof may leak, the bomb may drop and those crazy Frenchies may undermine civilization before morning. But I intend to read some more samples of what has struck my fellow countrymen funny for the last generation.

Things were mighty dismal for them, too. But they could see the funny side, like the frustrated Illini during a football season that was enough to make strong men cry — unless they had retained a sense of proportion.

Once Over

Thoughts On Current Events

Averell Harriman, the new governor of New York, was an eight-goal polo star, playing with such all-time stars as Milburn and Hitchcock and we think the ride from the polo fields to high elective office worth attention. Pony polo has never before been remotely associated with the interests of the common man. For generations it was enough to kill a candidate's chances for alderman. Nobody, seeing Averell Harriman, riding held-bent-for-leather at Meadow-brook and scoring the winning goal against the tough Argentine players, said, "What a presidential candidate he will make!" or "He's a cinch for governor of New York." For this was in the '20s in a nation where a man bound for high office had to have sold newspapers and come up the hard way.

Averell Harriman was not only a polo star,
with his own stable, but a Groton and Yale lad;
an oarsman in the most fashionable manner and an all around gentleman-sportsman.

Albany has led to the White House before.
Who can tell? We have never had a polo playing president. A white helmet and mallet scared the wits out of president makers. But things have changed. It is no longer essential that a candidate resemble Lincoln, Jackson or Cleveland. A rugged rail-splitter might not get to first base today. If a man has charm and a good record for public service, a background of luxury can be overlooked.

Gov. Harriman is the only man who ever slipped off a polo pony and landed in Moscow as an American ambassador. He drove the ball from Meadowbrook to Yalta, to the Kremlin, to Albany, quite a record even for an eight-goal man. Destiny has strange ways. There may yet be a polo mallet in the room where Lincoln once slept.

Few churchmen can disagree with the recent message of Pope Pius XII declaring that "cold peace" will not benefit the civilized world
any more than the "cold war," and holding that what we need most to keep from going over the abyss is a hot dedication to religious faith.

"In one camp the voice of those who stand firmly for truth and for the spirit are forcibly suffocated," the Pope says. "In the other camp people suffer from excessive timidity in pre-claiming aloud their worthy desires." Seldom has the situation been expressed more clearly.
Coldness won't get our side anywhere.

The free world gets hot over costlier jobs,
more money, stock market booms, autos, TV sets, winter vacation junkets, etc., but its temperature shows no sensational rise in the matter of a complete dedication to the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. There's too much shuffling of feet during even the best sermons. And it seems to us that some of the fastest auto driving is done by folks hurrying home from the shortest church services.

Hundreds of cities are still staging a cold war
on the simplest of religious exercises in opening public schools. Cold educators, cold legislators and cold parents fight what used to be routine in our schools, a recital of the Lord's prayer. When you get that cold, brother, you're down in the sub zero temperatures.

The Commies are making progress because there is nothing cold about their thermostatic arrangements. They are red hot and feverish for whatever they believe in. Our side needs a big thaw. And it's not something we can get by rapping on a radiator.

One Of Those Fights

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

It's a BIGGER Job Now!

NEW YORK (U)—It was one of those fights. She said something. He said something. She said that was a terrible way to put it. He said he wasn't putting it any particular way. She said that he said... He said, nonsense, he had only said what he said after she said... Lost in tenses and anger, she went back to the dishes. He slammed the kitchen door and went down to his den in the basement, his since the real den upstairs had become the sewing room and the TV room and the guest room.

As always in such fights, he imagined they had not really been married the last 15 years. Helen and Tim were someone else's kids. He really was still a gay young bachelor, with lots of girls and flashy cars and places to go and bright, crisp things to say.

It further irritated him that the bottom drawer of his basement desk wouldn't shut tight and he could see why. She had crammed in the big cardboard box she kept the old check stubs in. Stubs all the way back, 13 or 14 years. Her check stubs in his desk. Well, all right, their stubs. Still it was her mania to save everything in sight, not his...

The first stub he saw was only a month old. S & J Apparels, $54. He could, he thought, rush back up to the kitchen and deliver a stinging denunciation of frivolous shoppers. But then she would produce incontrovertible evidence the kids really needed those new winter coats.

He turned the box over and began among the oldest stubs. March 12, 1940—apparel, $14. Hers. April 9, 1940, sofa, $175. The sofa was now beside him, in the basement. Nov. 24, 1940—sculpture lessons, $18. Hers. "After all, a wife needs to feel productive, too."

Apt. rent, $47, month after month. Then $54, then $62... Feb. 12, 1941—beer, $28.50. What, $28.50 for beer! But then he remembered down model A, that the conversation usually was desperately wooden. He paused over the check stubs and slowly returned them to his desk drawer. He walked back up to the kitchen where she was just finishing up. He kissed her on the back of the neck. She said, "What's that for?" He said, "none of your business," and kissed her again.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

President Eisenhower has declared war on the more conservative business forces in the Republican party—and they are beginning to organize special groups to fight back.

First they will try to pressure him back into his old position on labor and business. If they fail, they will back him for renomination in '56.

That's the effect of the President's State of the Union speech, which made Secretary of Labor Mitchell one of the most influential men in the White House and, therefore, in the nation. The wording of the President's talk was a victory for Jim Mitchell and a defeat for the business spokesmen led by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

The anti-Mitchell forces tried to convince Ike not to make specific recommendations to Congress. Mitchell held out for specific promises.

Mitchell was in the White House daily right up to the time the speech was delivered. He saw the President at least twice. And the President made specific recommendations affecting over 8,300,000 workers.

THE FIRST WAS to extend coverage of the wage-hour law. Ike will make this fight to cover many of the 7 million workers not now covered by the 75 cents an hour minimum wage law. The second was to jack the minimum wage up to 90 cents an hour. This will affect some 1,300,000 employees of all sorts. This fight will be still another victory for Jim Mitchell, who has been urging the President to move closer to labor as the '56 campaign approaches.

Not the least of these moves will be official recognition by the government of labor unions representing 1,700,000 federal employees. Until now these unions have not been official. From now on the government, through the Civil Service Commission, will deal with a special committee of government employees' unions headed by George Meany. There'll be a presidential order soon to this effect. These unions cover all fields from the FBI to janitors.

THE MOB and its graduates can be fought — and beaten — if you try. Recently Dick Walsh, head of the AFL's Stage Hands, stopped dead in its tracks a move by a former Capone extortionist to slip back into the union. The mover-in was Louis Kaufman, convicted in 1945 of extorting money from the movie companies. Right after his conviction, Walsh did what many another union chief should do. Dick banned the extortionist from office for five years.

However, a few months ago Kaufman decided to run for office in one of the Stage Hands' Newark locals.

Walsh, who has driven the remnants of the Browne - Biotti-Capone syndicate from his trade, wrote an official letter warning Kaufman to get out of the union election. The extortionist did. The road back was blocked. Simple formula. Just takes courage and the memory of what a million dollar extortion ring did to the Hollywood studios.

JIM CAREY, national CIO secretary and leader of its Electrical Workers Union, is gathering organizers and money for a drive to wipe the pro-Soviet United Electrical Workers Union out of Pennsylvania, the state in which this Commie-line outfit has the most members in the most sensitive defense industries. The UE now has some 28,000 members in Pennsylvania, most of them in plants of General Electric, Westinghouse and Sylvania.

DAVID ROLLER was general chairman of Family Night at the Lutheran Church last week. An educational movie on Australia was shown, followed by a musical program which included Myrna and Marilee Dunn, Susie Clause, Carol Ann Puttkamer and Raymond Bush. Following a social time and games a committee served lunch.

Miss Mary Margaret Kindig who is employed at Saginaw, Mich., motored here to spend several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Kindig, last week. Robert and Richard Knaut of Oxford, Mich., relatives of the family, came with her.

Clarence A. Lintners Return From New York Honeymoon

Returning from a honeymoon to New York City are Clarence A. Lintner and his bride, the former Dana Manfull who were married Thursday evening, Dec. 23 in the Kensington Christian Church.

Mrs. Lintner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Manfull of Kensington. Mr. Lintner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Lintner of Salineville.

Rev. Donald Neumesiter officiated at the candlelight service performed before an altar decorated with palms and poinsettias, accented with vases of white flowers and seven branch candelabra. A beautiful Christmas tree was placed in the background.

Robert Carter served as pianist and Mrs. William Morgan was soloist, singing "Liebestraum" and "Because." Rev. Neumesiter sang, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Lord's Prayer" at the closing of the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a bouffant gown of white chantilly lace. The full skirt, designed with a front panel of ruffles, was complete with a cathedral train. A bolero type jacket with a Peter Pan collar was worn over the fitted strapless bodice.

Orange blossoms added beauty to the bonnet-styled crown of nylon tulle the bride wore trimmed with chantilly lace. Complementing the bride's costume was a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations and pompons topped with a corsage of white carnations backed by holy leaves. Her pearl necklace was the gift of the bridegroom. The tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out.

Mrs. Shirley Hart, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor in a dark green gown fashioned with strapless velvet bodice and a full four-tiered nylon tulle skirt over matching taffeta. The velvet shrug she wore had a standing collar. Her headpiece also was of dark green velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations arranged with pompons and holy leaves.

Mrs. Mary Henry, another sister of the bridegroom, appeared as bridesmaid in a dark red gown identical in style to that of Mrs. Hart. Red and white carnations were combined in her bouquet.

Harris O'Donald of Wooster served as best man. Cecil Fitzsimmons of East Palestine and Thomas Manfull, brother of the bride were ushers. Mrs. Manfull wore navy blue and Mrs. Lintner black with white and white carnation corsages.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. The bride's table was skirted with white linen flounce decorated with holly. A bridal miniature topped the cake and white mums encircled its base. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Harry Reeder of Hanoverton, Mrs. Vida Hull and Mrs. Louise Taylor. Guests were present from Salineville, Hanoverton, Alliance, Minerva, East Palestine, Wooster, East Liverpool, Washington, D.C. and Pittsburgh.

When the newlyweds left for their eastern honeymoon the bride wore a brandy-colored dress with brown accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH. The alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Do not sour. Check "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

You May Be Worth Your Weight In Gold

Yes, but not if you are overweight. Insurance companies would consider you a poor risk because your life expectancy is diminished in proportion to the number of pounds you are overweight. If you once sincerely make up your mind to reduce you will do it. Read this letter from Mrs. Susan Krach, 610 Luther Ave., Cleveland 3, Ohio. She writes: "I am 38 years old. A short time ago I was advised by my doctor to lose weight, and did so with the help of Rennie. Since the day I started taking Rennie I have lost 50 lbs. My weight is almost back to normal. Best of all I look and feel 10 years younger." Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennie Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to putty your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on Rennie.

TRAFFIC FINES STOLEN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Right down the hall from police headquarters, a burglar broke into the night depository and made off with $70 to $100 in traffic fines. Worse still, police don't know who paid and who didn't, because the burglar took the tickets too.

Quakers Seek 8th And 9th Victories Of Season This Week

Salem To Play Warren, Rayen

35 District Games Set For This Week

By LOWELL FLEISCHER

The Salem Quakers go after victories eight and nine this weekend as they travel to Warren Harding Friday night and take on the Youngstown Rayen Tigers Saturday night in the Salem High gym.

The Black Panthers of Warren are handed their fifth setback in nine games by the Canton McKinley Bulldogs Saturday night 71-47. The Rayen Tigers have a 2-4 record for the season.

The Tigers play two more games before they invade the local gym Saturday night.

Last weekend the Quakers had little trouble in registering their sixth season win Friday night as they trounced the New Philadelphia roundballers 103-65. It was the second time this season that the Cabasmen have tallied over 100 markers in a contest. They opened their season with a 105-58 win over Youngstown Ursuline, establishing a new school scoring record.

THEY FACED a different setup Saturday night however as they encountered the Ravenna Ravens and their possession type basketball. The locals came out on top 38-22 despite the Ravens' stalling tactics.

From here on in the Quakers will probably face several teams which will play a control type ball game in an effort to hold the high scoring Quakers' average down as Ravenna succeeded in doing.

Reports are that the Rayen Tigers are capable of a good control game although they have been using a fast break lately.

Karl Zellers' Reserves will also be looking for their eighth and ninth wins of the season this weekend. The Jayvees looked better than they have all season in their 80-53 defeat of the Raven Reserves.

THURSDAY SALEM fans will get a chance to see the Coach John Cabas put his squads through a regular practice session at the Booster Club - sponsored "open house" in the Salem High School gym. There will be no charge and the public is invited, according to Booster President Alden Smith. Time for the Thursday night session will be announced soon.

This is a big week for district basketball action as the season fast approaches its mid-way point. There are a total of 35 district games set this week with 13 slated for tonight, 15 for Friday and seven for Saturday.

Among tonight's Class B games the Goshen Union Gophers, handed their eighth setback last week will try again for win number three as they travel to Berlin Center. Berlin Center has a 6-2 season record.

The North Lima cagers journey to Lisbon where they'll meet the Blue Devils with a season record of five wins and three losses. Leetonia will try to get back in the winning column as the Bears go to

The reserve game at Warren will get underway at 7:15 and the varsity contest about 8:30. No reserve seats are being sold but tickets for the gym's 900 seats will be sold at the door. Admission is 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults. Some tickets are also still available for Saturday night's game here, on sale at Fisher's and Heddleston's.

Status Of Erdelatz At Navy To Be Told

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (U)—The Naval Academy was expected to issue a statement today clarifying the status of Eddie Erdelatz, its successful head football coach.

Erdelatz returned from a Chesapeake Bay duck hunting trip late last night to learn that he himself had been hunted all day yesterday by persons who wanted to know if it was true that he was leaving the Academy.

It had been reported the Navy coach had been offered a job to coach the professional Los Angeles Rams at almost double the salary he receives from the academy.

When Erdelatz came home last night—without any ducks—he admitted he had talked to Dan Reeves, owner of the National Football League Rams, but denied that he ever mentioned terms and money of a contract. He said Naval Academy officials were aware of the conversation with Reeves.

"It doesn't pay to go hunting," Eddie said. "I got no ducks and all I got was a lot of false statements."

Earlier yesterday, Reeves said Erdelatz had not been offered a job as Rams coach, but was one of five or six under consideration.

Duquesne Drops To 3rd In AP Voting

By The Associated Press
A one-point setback, the first defeat in 3 games, failed to dislodge Kentucky's Wildcats from first place in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll.

The Wildcats, with a record of seven victories and a 59-58 defeat by Georgia Tech through last Saturday's games, didn't dominate the voting today as they have in recent weeks.

But they still finished on top with 895 points, a margin of 15 over North Carolina State. A week ago they had a lead of 221 over runner-up Duquesne, which also came a cropper against little St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., Saturday. Duquesne slipped to third place this week.

The 104 sports writers and sportscasters participating in the poll gave Kentucky 52 first-place votes, North Carolina State, which moved up from third to second, received 22 votes for the top spot. LaSalle and San Francisco retained their holds on fourth and fifth places, respectively, with Missouri, Illinois, George Washington, Utah and UCLA completing the first 10.

The leaders, with first-place votes in parentheses:

Grid Coaches Favor Longer Spring Drills

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (U)—Diligent inquiry failed to establish the identity of the character—presumably a football coach—who voted against spring training when the nation's college mentors meeting here last week called for a show of hands on the controversial subject.

Actually, what happened was that some 500 leading lights of the profession were asked to signify whether they favored extending the present 20-day training period permitted under NCAA regulations to 30 days. Only three hands were not raised, and the owners of two of those explained later that they wanted spring training, all right, but thought that 20 days were sufficient.

That left one voter who, supposedly, did not wish to conduct spring football training at all, and he seems to have melted into the crowd. None of his fellow coaches could, or would, identify the scamp. The suggestion was made that he had mistakenly wandered into the coaches' convention from a plumbers' convention which was being held on the same floor.

Among those who voted vociferously for the 30-day measure, which will be presented to the NCAA before next year's meeting, were a full complement of coaches from the eight-team Ivy League. They were forced to go into the season cold, without even an hour of spring drill, and some of the things that happened to them were dreadful.

It is doubtful that the football maestros ever before were so united in any cause as they are in their determination to at least hold what they have in the way of spring practice against the rising tide of opinion against it on the part of the educators.

So far, the Ivy League is the only group of any importance to ban spring drills entirely, but the Pacific Coast Conference has been tossing the matter about in its mind and several smaller circuits also are known to be thinking it over in their search for means of de-emphasizing the fall mania. The coaches think they see a definite trend, and they are determined to head it off.

It is in the spring that the college coach, not to neglect his high school confederate, finds out what he has in the way of new material, builds the groundwork for his attack and generally whips his team into such shape that it needs only polishing in the short time at his disposal before the opening game in the fall.

Baseball Lawsuit May Be Settled

CHICAGO (U)—William Harridge, president of the American League, yesterday called for "a prompt dismissal or a prompt trial" of a 12 million dollar anti-trust suit filed against 13 major league baseball teams.

The suit was filed three years ago by the now bankrupt Liberty Broadcasting System of Dallas and named all major league teams except Brooklyn, Cincinnati and the Chicago White Sox.

It charged violation of the Sherman Act and Clayton anti-trust laws and a "continuing conspiracy to monopolize and restrain competition in broadcasting and recreating play-by-play accounts of professional ball games."

Harridge said an application has been filed in the U. S. Bankruptcy Court in Dallas by William J. Rochelle Jr., trustee in Bankruptcy of Liberty, for authority to dismiss the suit upon $20,000 settlement.

Harridge said both sides have accepted the proposal subject to approval of the bankruptcy court.

In Dallas, Gordon McLendon, who brought suit as head of Liberty, called the compromise offer "a victory" but added that "I am against the amount of the compromise... whether we accept it is up to the trustees."

Duquesne Drops Second Straight

Dayton Edges Dukes 68-67 In Last Seconds

By ED CORRIGAN

The Associated Press
Without a healthy Dick Ricketts, it appeared today that Duquesne is just another basketball team.

Ricketts has been hobbling on a bad ankle for more than a week and last night managed to score only 10 points. Result: The Dukes dropped their second straight game a 68-67 decision to Dayton.

Last Saturday, the Dukes lost to little St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., for their second defeat of the season. In that one too, Coach Duddy Moore said Ricketts was operating below par because of his bad ankle.

The Dukes are No. 3 in the nation in the Associated Press ratings behind Kentucky and North Carolina State. Si Green, their top forward, scored 27 points against the Flyers, but he couldn't make up for Ricketts' lack of point production.

Dayton's Ray Dieringer made only one field goal attempt. He took a shot with seven seconds to go and it popped through to give the Flyers the triumph.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 team, rebounded from its stunning loss to Georgia Tech Saturday and trounced De Paul 92-59 in Lexington. Billy Evans led the Wildcats with 20 points.

Georgia Tech, incidentally, dropped a 71-69 decision to Vanderbilt. Auburn, the only major undefeated team left, won its seventh by defeating Mississippi 85-81.

One long streak was snapped last night, when Western Kentucky bowed to Xavier of Ohio 82-80. The loss was Western's first at home after winning 67 games in a row since 1949. The game went to two overtimes before Dick Schneider hit with a follow-up with three seconds to go in the second extra session.

In the Big Ten, Iowa, one of the favorites, hit with better than 50 per cent of its shots to defeat Michigan State 94-81. Minnesota turned back Indiana's defending champions 88-74. Illinois ended Purdue's two-day lead in the standings by beating the Boilermakers 83-73, and Michigan whipped Wisconsin 90-63.

Colorado defeated Kansas 65-54 and remained unbeaten in the Big Seven race. The Buffaloes are tied for the league lead with Kansas State and Missouri.

George Washington and Richmond, the two big boys of the Southern Conference, also chalked up triumphs. GW, which bowed to Richmond Saturday, turned back VMI 104-52, while Richmond struggled to a 63-61 decision over Virginia Tech on Walt Lysaght's 30-foot shot with two seconds to go.

Other major results included:

Holy Cross 93, Notre Dame 57; Georgia 67, Tulane 65; Tulsa 65, Detroit 62; Florida 78, Louisiana State 73; and Princeton 62, Dartmouth 50.

4 Teams Tie For Lead In Big 10 Race

CHICAGO (U)—Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan moved into a first place tie in the Big Ten basketball race last night to break up a weekend traffic jam which saw eight teams tied for second place.

Illinois ended Purdue's 48-hour stay in first place with an 83-73 victory at Lafayette while Minnesota, Michigan and Iowa came through with home-court victories. The leaders have 2-1 records in conference play.

Indiana's defending champions, meanwhile, went reeling into the second division with their second straight conference loss.

Minnesota, paced by Dick Garmaker, swamped Indiana, 88-74. Indiana fell behind by 13 points midway in the first half, making it easy for the Gophers.

Garmaker, one of the top scorers in the conference, hit for 30 points —14 on free throws.

Schlundt made up nearly half of Indiana's offense, scoring 30 points.

Neither Iowa nor Michigan was pressed. The Hawkeyes hit for an amazing .515 per cent from the field to bury Michigan State 94-81 and Michigan romped over Wisconsin, 90-63.

Illinois snapped Purdue's seven game winning streak and solved a Boilermaker zone defense by shooting over it.

Northwestern and Ohio State were idle.

Marion Sees Tribe As Team To Beat

CHICAGO (U)—Marty Marion, new manager of the Chicago White Sox, is bubbling over with pennant hopes and tabs Cleveland as the big team to beat.

"Although the Yankees got Bob Turley, Don Larsen and Bill Hunter," said Marion, former St. Louis Cardinal shortstop star, St. Louis Browns manager and White Sox coach, "I see Cleveland as our chief rival."

"The Yankees are going to miss Gene Woodling. Turley is a fine pitcher but the fact he lost 15 games for Baltimore last year proves he can lose."

"But as a whole, the entire American League is going to be a lot stronger. Detroit and Boston look good with their young players jelling."

Marion, who succeeded Paul Richards when he went to Baltimore, believes the White Sox have improved so much through added strength that a pennant is not out of reach.

"For three straight years, the Sox have been third," he said. "It's time to move up. In many talks with Richards last year, we agreed that the club as it then was made up had reached its peak."

"Since you can't get stand-out players without giving up some of your own, the building of a good bench is the best thing."

Marion thinks that first baseman Walt Dropo and outfielder Bob Nieman, both obtained from Detroit in the Ferris Fain deal, will give the Sox much-needed power.

Ike To Support Road Program

Commission To Ask 101 Billion Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special presidential commission today presents to the White House a 101-billion-dollar federal-state highway program incorporating a new approach to the problem of modernizing the nation's highways.

The commission was reported to have given full endorsement to President Eisenhower's "grand plan" for expenditure of 54 billion dollars over the next 10 years in addition to the 47 billions now planned. The object: to develop maximum use of highways for a possible national emergency.

To Follow Commission

Eisenhower is due to send the administration's highway program to Congress Jan. 27. He is expected to follow pretty closely the findings of his five-man commission, headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

As outlined last week by Frank Turner, the commission's executive director, the plan would set up a big new federal agency to finance the program by floating bonds. Highway improvement contributions are now made to the states out of federal appropriations.

U. S. Uts Up 60%

For work on the "strategic network" of interstate highways, the federal government now puts up 60 per cent and the states 40 per cent of the cost. The commission's idea is for the federal government to pay "substantially all" the 24-billion-dollar cost of developing 40,000 miles of interstate roads.

A private organization, the National Highway Users Conference, put out a statement today in advance of release of the Clay commission report, saying: "Strong opposition (is) building up against expected Clay recommendations on toll roads."

The conference said the presidential commission was expected to propose that states be reimbursed for construction of existing and future toll roads and then be permitted to continue collecting tolls on them.

with the views of the President and his aides, I believe, as they do, that the Ohio unemployment compensation law should be amended so that our workers may receive unemployment compensation reasonably related to their regular weekly earnings.

FAIR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES—"Two years ago, I urged the enactment of a fair employment practice law which would provide for a state commission having adequate powers of education, conciliation and effective enforcement. I reaffirm the need for this type of legislation and urge its passage," by this General Assembly.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION—"I recommend that benefits under the workmen's compensation law be revised upward in keeping with present-day living costs."

RURAL HIGHWAYS—"The development of toll roads financed by private capital including the East-West turnpike, the proposed Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike, with the additional spur from Columbus to Toledo, which I feel will become a certainty, will release millions of state highway funds for use in development and maintenance of our secondary road system in our rural areas."

AXLE-MILE TAX—"no one can dispute the merits of the highway axle tax law which compels commercial truck operators of three or more axles to pay according to the number of axles used and the miles traveled. . . . The efforts which obviously will be made to repeal or at least weaken the axle-mile tax should be vigorously repudiated."

HORSE RACING TAXES—"The average revenue yield for other states taxing horse racing is approximately 6 per cent of total wagers, as compared to Ohio 4.99 per cent. . . . It is my belief that our tax law should be amended so as to produce for the state of Ohio an amount of revenue which would be at least equal to the average percentage collected by other states."

NARCOTICS—"I urge you to adopt legislation that will make possible the imposition upon narcotic peddlers of sentences of a severity equal to the viciousness of the wrong which they commit upon their fellow men."

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY—"In view of the economic effort on Ohio of the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, including our commerce, ports, manufacturing, farming, shipping and other important segments of our economy, I urge the enactment of legislation to permit local communities to organize port authorities, when deemed necessary. . . ."

PUBLIC UTILITIES—"I strongly urge the enactment of legislation which will repeal the present rate-making law and substitute . . . a method which will test the reasonableness of utility rates not on a hypothetical and fictitious valuation
